Me and Mike.

Mary Ida Parks' little daughter, it is said, was in the primary class in Sunday School. The kids were each asked to give a Bible verse. The old standbys like "Jesus wept," etc were said. When Mary Ida's daughter's time came, she said, "Praise the Lord and pass the Ammunition."

The door was never closed to Tom Bailey. Tom got in one time and got his (Tom's) daddy appointed Game Warden for nearly four years.

A good deal has been said of Bailey or some of his friends, paying transportation back to Mississippi for the Mobile workers. I have a copy of the Mobile Press dated August 7, showing the front page story of the affair.

Tech. Sgt. Henry Hudson, Jr., formerly an employe of Mr. H. L. Honeycutt of Grenada, is reported missing in action. Further details are not available

Aint they sweet.

It is so hellish hot that I am not going to mail out statements to the charter members, but I do hope that you will continue, as you have done to come in and pay up. The GCW does not want to lose a single one of you.

Grenada's first bale, raised near Graysport, was brought to town Thursday. That used to be big news, but, now, with all of this money floating around, folks have almost forgotten that the cotton season is just about upon us.

Seed money used to be an important factor in the business life of Grenada—and it will be again some day. Therefore, it behooves Grenada merchants to treat their old customers just as well as they did in the good old days.

Freddie Little, Will O'Bryant and Vernon Maxey, sterling citizens (and, I hope, Conner men) were in Grenada last week.

Dear Mrs. Waite: I am keeping an eye on the old man and am keeping him out of devilment.

It is with extreme pleasure that we announce that Brother W. A. Martindale has been added to our mailing list.

Col. Henry Kahn spent the night night with Dr. Sharp the other night and they probably elected Mike Conner by a majority of at least 60,000. But these gentlemen are veritable recruits in Conner camp, compared to the writer who has been with him for even 20 years. I am one of the few men in Grenada county who have never failed to put an X by Conner's name. In fact somebody said that, in a city election, I refused to vote because Conner's name was not on the ticket. This does not mean that I think Conner is perfect. I know him too well to say that. But he is the greatest statesman in Mississippi. This does not mean that I have not said and written causticly about Conner on occasions, but I think, like Bilbo said, "A man has a right to beat his own jackass." . . . certainly it can truthfully be said that Conner has no older political friend in Grenada than Whyte Whitaker. And I do not want a damn thing—not even a Notary Public job—from him.

Gradually we are acquiring the names of most of the substantial colored men of the county on our list, the latest recruit being E. C. Liddell who lives south of Holcomb.

Speaking of Holcomb, John Carver was a recent visitor to our office.

For the benefit of his many friends, it is noted that Soldier Whyte Whitaker, Jr., will probably be put of 94th Station Hospital at Camp McCain in a few weeks and return to his home station, Camp Hood, Texas.

Howdydo Adams was on double duty for the past three weeks; watching the gate at the court room in the day time and watching the gallivanters on the school ground at night. I move that Howdydo be given a few weeks vacation from duty.

The big bouts, Williams and Horton vs. Mike Conner, and W. W. W. vs Tom Bailey, will be held next Tuesday. Do not fail to attend.

It has been reported that Alexander Breyer, who worked for City Ice and Coal Company before the war, was killed in the Pacific area.

Killed In Action In The North Pacific Area

Tech. Sgt. Paul Pittman, of Grenada, was killed in the North African Area, probably over Sicily, early this month. He was a Technical Sergeant on a flying fortress and was first engineer. The whole crew was lost when their ship fell in action.

TECH. SGT. PAUL PITTMAN

Mrs. Paul Pittman, the widow, states that the Washington War Department message stated that they did not know the place or date of burial of the crew. Mrs. Pittman has heard from the wives of four of the young men who lost their lives at the time her husband lost his. They too, are uninformed as to the place of accident and the last resting place of their loved ones Mrs. Pittman is the former Miss Bill Lamar, of Grenada, and is now employed at Camp McCain as a typist.

Other relatives of Sgt. Paul Pittman besides his young widow include three brothers and three sisters, Mr. Arnold Pittman, Pensacola, Fla. Pfc. Harold Pittman, Army Air Base, Madison, Wis. T/Sgt. Newt Pittman, Army Air Base, Lincoln, Neb, and Mrs. Aubrey Middleton, Pascagoula, Miss. Mrs. Vate Patrich, Lodi, Miss., and Miss Frances Pittman, Grenada.

Sgt. Pittman left the States in a great flying ship named, "Leprechaum" and after having it shot up, they flew the flying fortress until it too was destroyed.

To this splendid young man's family we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

Tom Bailey Makes Last Plea For Suffrage of Grenadians

Hon. Thomas L. Bailey, of Meridian, runned-up with Mike Conner in the final election next Tuesday, the 24th, made his last appeal to a hundred or so Grenadians Friday afternoon. Mr. Bailey was introduced by Mr. Hurd Horton, one of his most active supporters.

Assailing the "bureaucrats," Mr. Bailey asserted that selfishness caused the war and, while we are fighting the battle for freedom abroad, we demand Mississippians be treated as free Americans at home—whatever that meant.

Said Mr. Bailey, "local self-government must be preserved at all costs."

He appealed to those in his audience to stand by a man "who can hear the heart throbs of the people above the clinck of the dollar," but nobody seemed to know what he was talking about.

Mr. Bailey is running on a slogan BIG MONEY (supposedly Mike Conner) vs THE PEOPLE (supposedly himself) and this, he states, is the issue in the campaign, but he did not explain to all his listeners what that high-faulting catch phrase meant.

Coming at the hottest part of a hellish day, Mr. Bailey drew about as many people as a minor prophet would draw from the busy, indifferent people of Grenada.

Mrs. Bohrer Released By Judge

There has been more or less discussion regarding the relase of Mrs. Bohrer who was accused of and tried for murder of her soldier husband. The following is what is on the official docket of the Circuit Court:

State of Mississippi — No. 678
Vs.
Mrs. Leona Gertrude Bohrer

It is therefore ordered and adjudged by the court that the defendant, Mrs. Leona Gertrude Bohrer be released on her own recognizanie until the January, 1944 term of this court, and that this case stand continued until said time, a mistrial being entered herein So ordered and adjudged in open court, this August 11, 1943.

Jno. F. Allen, Circuit Judge.

Congressman and Camp Commander

On a recent visit to Grenada and Camp McCain, the above photograph of Congressman Thomas G. Abernethy of our district and Col. Jra E. Ryder, Commander of Camp McCain, was made in the latter's office.

Pvt. A. G. Schiele, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Schiele, receives as birthday present from his brother, C. N. Schiele, the GCW.

Pvt. Schiele has just arrived overseas. He is stationed on an island in the Southwest Pacific, and writes home that he is fine. He is the second son of this family to go overseas for service, the other being Pfc. R. H. Schiele, stationed in England.

Former Grenadian Died In Washington

Weeks Yeager, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Yeager, of Grenada, and brother of Talbert and Max Yeager, of Grenada county, died in his home in Washington last Saturday and was buried Tuesday of this week.

He was 54 years of age, and left home when he was about 14 years of age, and later joined the United States Navy, serving 30 years, including the first World War period, married an Irish girl and established a home in Washington. After 30 years service he was retired a few years ago. He has been back to Grenada only once in about 40 years.

More Housing For Defense Workers In Prospect

With the publication of the Charter of Incorporation of The Dewain Homes, Inc., the third housing project in Grenada for defense workers has officially begun.

Grenada Homes, Inc., building a number of duplexes in the Thomas old pasture on Poplar., and Algenon Blair, representing the Federal Housing project at Camp McCain and at the Air Base, are making nice progress in construction.

The Dewain Homes, Inc., will build on land formerly owned by W. B. Hoffa and laying between Highway No. 8 and the city limits.

Cpl. Bill Cunningham Awarded Silver Star

For gallantry in action in the invasion of Sicily, Cpl. Luther L. Cunningham, Co. C, 67th Armored Regiment, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cunningham, of Oxberry, received the following citation on July 18, 1943:

"On the 12th day of July, 1943, Northeast of Cela, Sicily, Corporal Cunningham, having had his tank destroyed and burned by 88 mm gunfire and under heavy artillery and small arms fire, without regard to his own personal safety, stood by the road and attempted to deploy the other tanks in the column and point out enemy positions. Medal No. 34947."

Dr. Avent's Nephew Killed In Shipyard

Mr. B. L. Moss, of Soso, (near Laurel) writes a fine paragraph when he went to bat for Mike Conner. This, I believe, he is eminestly qualified to give you and me and all the people of Mississippi."

Mickey Angevine Writes An Interesting Letter Home

July 22, 1943

Dearest Folks:

It has been quite a while since I last wrote to you, so guess I had better do just that right now.

First, I want to tell you about the darndest thing I ever saw, two "Wogs" (natives) came by here the other day selling watermelons. It was about noon so they decided to have dinner. They built a fire and put a pot of water on. Then they put something in it that looked like chicken feed. After it had boiled they drank it; then they boiled some mint leaves and drank that. Now comes the part I would not believe had I not seen it. They pulled two rats out of their bag and put them on the fire. When they were cooked black they took them out, scraped the hair off and ate bones and all. Boy! I didn't miss passing out but a little. Then two more came by yesterday and we learned a good many Arab words. They had two little donkeys about as large as police dogs. I rode one of them. Gosh! I could almost walk with him. It was really funny.

It is getting dark now so I will finish this letter tomorrow.

July 23

Well, it took a good while for me to get back to this letter, but quite a few things have happened since I started it. Among them, I made Staff Sergeant, and received two medals—the Air Medal and an Oak Leaf Cluster. They don't mean too much.

I have been feeling pretty sick today. I ate about seven eggs last night and drank a can of canned milk. Kinda got me down so guess I'll quit those for a while.

Boy! if I stay down here much longer I will be a regular "Wog". I'm learning to speak their language a little.

Certainly hope you can read this letter. We do not have any tables so have to make the best of it.

I guess you get tired of me writing so much about these natives but they are the darndest things I have ever seen. They dress in anything. I looked up just then to see one walking across the desert in an Italian coat with a pair of G. I. shorts on. They wear a mattress covers as we would our best suit. We saw one with a barracks bag on. He just cut two holes for his legs and put 'er on.

Did I tell you about having my hair cut again? Boy! it's a mess. Wish it would hurry and grow out.

I wish we'd hurry and get some mail. Have had mail only once since we have been here but there will be plenty when it does come, though, I know.

I will quit now but write again soon.

All mylove,
Mickey

W. V. Horton Pays Tribute To Mr. G. E. Denley

Grenada, Miss., Aug. 17, 1943
Editor of Grenada County Weekly:

I am writing you to pay my small tribute to the memory of Mr. G. E. Denley, Editor of the Coffeeville Courier, who, as you know died very recently.

I have known Mr. Denley intimately for a long number of years, and have been closely associated with him as a personal friend, and I know that during his long and busy life he was always and everywhere a true and zealous Christian gentleman, and a friend upon whom one could implicitly depend, in every time of need.

He was a member of the Baptist church, a Sunday School teacher, during the greater part of his life, and one upon whom all of his associates and pupils could look with pride and know that he was in every respect dependable and above reproach.

He, like many of us, began life as a poor boy and worked his way up to the high position to which he attained before his death by hard labor and devotion to his duty, and while doing this gained and retained a very large number of friends, and the respect and confidence of every one with whom he came in contact.

He reared a large family, to whom he made sacrifices in order to give them as good an education, and training as it was possible for him to do.

I am therefore glad to be able to pay to his memory this feeble tribute and testimony to his neighborliness and Christian life and character.

W. V. HORTON.

Mrs. John Keeton left by plane this (Thursday) morning for Dallas to see her son, Cadet Benton Keeton.

We have a number of soldier cuts which we, of necessity, had to omit this week. They will appear next week when we have more room.

Watch your carbohydrates.

I sincerely hop that my friend, Governor Paul Johnson, who has been resting for about two months in his home near Hattiesburg, keeps on resting until he recovers completely. Bilbo and a lot more politicians have rode into office on certain platforms and promises, then pitched them aside for the term; Judge Johnson really tried to carry out his pre-election promises and did succeed in carrying out a good many of them.

MRS. LANE RECEIVES "WINGS" OF HUSBAND

Randolph Field, Texas, July 20, 1943

Mrs. Cora M. Lane,
751 Line Street,
Grenada, Miss.

My dear Mrs. Lane:

General H. H. Arnold, Commanding General of the Army Air Force, has directed that the enclosed wings be presented ti you in honor of your husband, Aviation Cadet Hector Dewitt Lane, who gave his life in training to become a pilot in the Army Air Forces. This insignia would have been his badge of achievement on the completion of his training.

You can rightfully share the pride which would have been his on receiving these wings. The Army Air Forces present them in honor to his memory.

Sincerely yours,
G. C. BRANT,
Major General, U. S. Army
Commanding.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

I will be $100 or any part of it that Mike Conner is elected governor unless he dies before the 24th of August, 1943. But, I would advise you to carry your money to Jackson where, according to Col. Kahn, you can get 3 to 1 on the election of Conner.

Aint they sweet.

One negro down at Oxberry said that, if the Allies kept going as they are now going, the war will not even last "for the duration."

Mrs. Wade Rice, who is near her husband in Phoenix, Arizona, pitched in the money for a six monts' treatment recently.

America needs a GOOD army, well-equipped and properly commanded by competent officers, more than it needs a BIG army which does not possess those very essential qualifications. It is quite possible to get an army TOO BIG for the home front to supply and equip. That point, in my opinion, is being reached rapidly.

Speaking of the army, I think it is time for the authorities to take a DEFINITE stand about the so-called pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, and relieve those in that class from suspense. This question has been a political football too long. With the army at its present size, it would seem the better plan to put men of that class into defense work until the time actually arrived when their services are actually needed in the armed forces. The draft works full time, but many vital industries and agriculture are suffering on account of insufficient manpower. It is just as essential to feed and equip one soldier as it is to draft another potential draftee. Anyway, the question ought to be settled one way or another.

It is also time for the army to reclassify its personnel and do away with the men who can not do combat duty, forcing them to go into defense industry or agriculture. A man is either a soldier or he is not a soldier. There should be no twilight zone between being a real soldier and not being a real soldier. The assignments lying ahead are too important to entrust any parts of those assignments to the men in the twilight zone.

I went down with Conner in 1923, 1927, 1936 and 1939. I went up with him in 1931, and am heading up again. If you do not believe it, come around and we can get up a small bet on the subject.

The GCW put on a speed-up job Friday to get the ballots printed in time for mailing to men in the service on Saturday.

Dick Long held out a long time, but finally capitulated, and is now a full fledged subscriber. I hope you get a moon hand soon, Dick.

It has been about 100 degrees in the shade here in Grenada, but the political temperature has risen to 115 in Beats Three and Four. That's where politics started.

Certainly the reuters should stick to Mike Conner for his administration relieved them from taxes on wagons, carts, horses, etc., and farming implements. No longer does the Sheriff set out and attach the mule pulling the plow.

The old agers should stick to the man—Mike Conner—whose administration was the first to give them ANYTHING.

Certainly the homeowners should be grateful to the Conner administration for it was the first to give ANY exemption, and this business administration paved the way for the greater exemptions now enjoyed by home owners.

I rather like this style of the soldiers, tht of walking along with their arms about the waists of their wives or sweeties. What were arms made for anyway, if not for that and for guilding the hands to scratch the heat blotches on the body.

You will be walking soon, sister, for that tire can not stand many more bouts with that concrete curb. However, walking is good for fat fannies.

Only wishful thinking and foolish optimism can cause anyone to think the war is about over. The Germans and Japs advanced by the mile, and are being driven back by the inch.

There is but ONE issue in this gubernatorial campaign: which of the two men is best qualified for the office, a man who has had SUCCESSFUL experience, or one who has had NO experience as an executive. It is absolutely immaterial whether Malley calls Mike "Senate" or his right name, Sennett. It does not matter that Mike charges Tom with starting a dirty campaign. All of that, and all like that, are politics, pure and simple. The elementary question is this: who is capable of serving Mississippi best. The bull and balogny are not all on ONE side.

Howdydo is not going to stop what he is trying to stop.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

What's the magic of the welder's rod that builds boats so much faster and lighter? What's the secret of the blue arc blazing between Joan and her weld? Electricity!

But suppose, when war began, this power hadn't been ready? . . . Suppose America had had to wait? . . . A year—or two? . . . But America did have the power—and no waiting! Enough power for homes and ships and jeeps and planes. Five times the power this country had in the last war. More power than all the Axis countries combined! And over 80% of this vast flood of power comes from privately owned electric companies under business management—like Mississippi Power & Light Company and at low pre-war prices.

Electric power is plentiful and cheap today—because experienced men and management knew how to do their job—because democracy gave them the freedom to do it right.

American fliers moved closer to the Japanese mainland when they bombed Paramushiro, which lies below the Kamchatka peninsula of Siberia, 1,200 miles from Tokyo. Hits and near misses were reported on Jap ships lying in the harbor.

SICILY:
Pocket Axis

The second stage of fighting in Sicily found the Axis forces retiring from the western reaches of the island as the Seventh American army of Gen. George S. Patton moved into rapid occupation of the territory.

The Yanks' seizure of Palermo sealed off the Axis troops in the northeastern corner of Sicily. As Patton's army hemmed the remaining Axis forces of approximately 100,000 men in from the west, Gen. Bernard Montgomery's British Eighth army pounded at the enemy's line on the southern extremity of the trap, at Catania.

Units of the celebrated Herman Goering division put up a stiff fight on the outskirts of Catania. In this section, the broad Catania plain is criss-crossed by several rivers, making tank and motorized operations difficult; and many shallow creek beds and thick grain fields gave German machine-gunners good cover for defensive fire.

While the fight raged in Sicily, British naval and air units bombarded the sole of the Italian boot at Crotone.

CIVILIAN GOODS:
Increase Possible

The government's effort to get a more effective production for the war might result in a reduction of certain programs and free materials for civilian goods, War Mobilization director James F. Byrnes said. That, however, is a hope and not a prediction, Byrnes cautioned.

Byrnes' statement came on the heels of a revelation that the munitions program was being cut down in some lines because our growing air power was amply protecting Allied industries abroad from destruction from bombing, and thus reducing their demands on U. S. plants for material.

According to Byrnes, the various war agencies are studying their purchasing programs, to confine procurement to articles most useful in the light of recent combat developments. Where cancellations or reductions in orders may be feasible, the possibility exists that material spared will be used for civilian goods.

EMPLOYMENT:
38 Million at Work

As the labor department announced that over 38 million people were currently employed in non-agricultural establishments, the war department revealed that it had authorized the release of 4,500 men from the army for work in copper, zinc and molybdenum mines.

According to the labor department, current employment was 1,663,000 over that for the same period a year ago. Despite the fact that the manufacturing and public utilities and transportation industries put on 162,000 workers recently, total employment was only 66,000 more than in May of this year. Since May, the construction industry has laid off 99,000 men.

The war department said failure of the metal mines to secure the necessary amount of workers left only the army as a reservoir of men with the requisite skills for the pits.

SOUTH PACIFIC:
Range to Dutch Indies

Ranging 1,200 miles to the west, American heavy bomber formations struck at the Japanese naval base of Surabaya in the Dutch East Indies.

Tumbling down on an oil refinery, docks, warehouses and railway installations, 500 pound bombs caused heavy damage, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique said. The action marked the first air raid on Surabaya since that former Dutch base was pounded by the Japanese early in the war.

The raid on Surabaya was part of intensive Allied activity in the South Pacific area. As American troops worked closer through heavy jungle to the Japanese air base of Munda on New Georgia islands in the Solomons, medium and dive bombers and fighter planes kept up a rain of explosives on the embattled enemy troops guarding that stronghold. In one day alone, American airmen made 250 raids on the Japanese positions.

ROME:
'Priceless Treasures'

Declaring ". . . Despite the precautions that may be taken it is almost impossible to avoid, on this sacred soil of Rome, the destruction of venerated edifices," Pope Pius XII deemed it ". . . our duty once more to raise our voice in defense of the priceless treasures that constitute the ornament of Christian and human endeavor," following the Allied bombing of the Eternal City.

In citing the historical, cultural and religious importance of Rome, the pope said ". . . All that we put before competent authorities on several occasions in clear terms, recommending to them in the name of human dignity and of Christian civilization the inviolability of Rome." Then stating that he had hoped the papal authority would have proved sufficient in addressing a plea for the immunity of Rome, the pope said ". . . But alas, this so reasonable hope of ours has been disappointed."

RUSSIA:
Reds Whittle Bulge

Throwing the full weight of their might into the drive, the Russians bore down on Orel from three sides, while embattled German troops fought desperately to prevent being cut from the rear.

While the battle of Orel raged, the "Anti-Nazi German National Committee" in Moscow appealed to the German high command to overthrow Hitler and negotiate a peace with the Russian government. Although presumably composed of former German army officers, the "national committee" bears a liberal sprinkling of former leaders of the Communist party of the old reichstag.

At Orel, the Nazis were holding a big bulge eastward, from which they could strike out against the rear of the Reds' northern or southern armies. Russian troops made notable progress cutting across much of the bulge in the north, but the Germans were offering stiff resistance on the southern fringe.

For their part, the Germans made no effort to minimize the power of the Russian drive. They contended their strategy called for a continuation of the struggle so as to wear down the Reds' strength.

Children of Mars

By Quentin Reynolds

WNU Feature—Through special arrangement with Collier's Weekly)

In Russia, they call their Boy Scouts "Pioneers." They have no uniforms, no recreation, no time to play. But they are very proud of the job they are doing to speed victory.

I stood the other day on the embankment, looking across the river toward the Kremlin and its towers and mosques. I could feel the warmth of the sun and I knew that summer finally had come to Moscow.

At home, the kids would be getting out baseball bats and gloves and hurrying to the nearest vacant lot. Here in Moscow, the youngsters just out of school were hurrying to the embankment across the narrow river outside the Kremlin. They laughed and yelled, and then a soldier gave an order and the laughter stopped.

The kids lined up. There were about 60 of them, one-third girls. Not one was more than 14. The soldier gave crisp orders. The kids marched smartly up and down the embankment. They marched by twos and fours, with their drillmaster barking out military commands.

They drilled for one hour—these children of Mars—and then they were dismissed. When their time came, these youngsters would already have considerable basic military training. Today they had been in school for five hours and they had drilled for one hour.

It's Children's War, Too.

The children of Russia are organized into a society called Pioneers. It's much like our Boy Scouts, except that girls also are admitted to membership.

When school is done and drilling is finished, they go into homes and help. Each housewife now has to run her own home by herself. There's no servant problem in Moscow; there are no servants.

If her children are very young, her problem is a difficult one. This is where the Pioneers enter the picture. Each group of Pioneers is assigned to a city block. They find out which families need help. They go into homes and do what is needed.

The Timur Group.

Within the Pioneers there is a secret group, the envy of all the others. These are called the Timur.

Some years ago, a moving picture depicted a boy named Timur who had very great powers. He often visited the dirty homes of mortals and merely by waving a wand would make the house immaculate. If there was wood to be chopped, why, that was a cinch. He'd wave his wand again and there would be a neat pile of logs all ready for the stove.

When the family came home to find the house clean and wood piled in the bin, they would know that Timur had been visiting. Timur was a great favorite with Russian youngsters, and the Pioneers adopted his name for their secret society.

They work much as Timur worked. A family is finding the burden of carrying on too heavy. Perhaps the husband is at the front, and his wife works in a factory all day. This is true of thousands and thousands of families in Russia. Nurseries take care of the children while a mother is working, and she picks them up on her way home. Then she has to prepare dinner for them. She has little time for housecleaning or wood chopping.

Vigilant youngsters will report this to the Pioneers. A flying group of Timur lads will descend on the house, give it a thorough cleaning, scour the pots and pans, beat rugs, wash and dry any dirty dishes, chop enough wood to last a week—and then vanish.

The housewife comes home and looks at her now clean and tidy house and thinks that the age of miracles has come again.

Typical of the way in which Timurs operate is the care they take of an aged invalid, father of the well-known Soviet inventor Peter Bostivan. Both Bostivan and his wife enlisted and are at the front. The woman who normally took care of the household went into a munitions plant, and the old man, quite helpless, was alone.

The Timurs heard of it and today they are in the house getting his hot tea and black toast ready for breakfast. They take turns giving up their lunch hours to prepare his food. In the afternoon they do his marketing and housecleaning. In recognition of this, Bostivan recently wrote a glowing letter of thanks.

Although discouraged by military authority, the children have actually done a job in combat at the front. Sometimes military leaders cannot help themselves. I met 15-year-old Vassia, who was just back from the front. He was a baby-faced kid.

ALMOST overnight the familiar tank-truck became a vital part of the nation's war machine—essential to the very life of the nation.

Every railroad tank-car is needed to haul petroleum products to the eastern seaboard. Therefore, the oil industry's own transportation system—the tank-truck—has taken over the short trips which were formerly made by many railroad tank-cars.

When you see the Standard Oil Company tank-truck on the road today, you will know that it is running against time to get needed stocks of petroleum products to military camps and fields, to war industries, to other trucks engaged in the transportation of a thousand war necessities, to farmers for their tractors used in food production, and to countless other places where petroleum is indispensable.

'Round the clock faithful drivers operate these hard-pressed tank-trucks. Without the tank-truck war effort would lag—or stop! Every mission is urgent—many are vital.

WE HONESTLY FEEL HOWEVER

IT'S CARPENTER'S TIME TO BE SHERIFF

Clayton Carpenter has eight years experience as deputy Sheriff: Four years as Special Deputy under his father. the late J. E. Carpenter and the past four years as office deputy under the present Sheriff T. T. Hayward.

When it was assured we would have an Army Camp here Mr. Carpenter went to Hattiesburg, where Camp Shelby is located and spent some time studying the problems they had that he might be better prepared to handle like problems as they would arise here. He also took a week's special training under Mr. Good, an F. B. I. officer at Greenwood, all at his own expense. In other words he has tried to better prepare himself in every way possible to do the job. In all fairness to his opponent, whom we consider a fine man, We think at this time when serious problems are very likely to arise an experienced man will be needed.

THAT IS WHY WE THINK

JOHN LUMPKIN

Candidate for Lieutenant Governor

WITH THAT OF HIS OPPONENT

"I am grateful to the people of Mississippi for the splendid vote given me on August 2. I solicit your continued support, and the support of those who voted for my opponents.

"JOHN LUMPKIN."

1. Fielding Wright Voted for Liquor

House Bill 387 known as the May Liquor Bill, was introduced in the House in the 1934 session.

Is bill sought to force the legal sale of liquor in Mississippi without offering the people the right to vote on the liquor question.

Notwithstanding the report of the Committee on Liquor Traffic that the bill "Do Not Pass," Fielding Wright, a member of the House, voted to disregard the committee's report and set the bill for special consideration. (Page 486, House Journal, 1934.)

During the consideration of the May Liquor Bill as a special order, an attempt was made to substitute Senate Bill No. 130, known as the Roberts bill, which provided that the people should vote on whether or not liquor could be legally sold in Mississippi.

Fielding Wright voted against substituting the Roberts bill and against allowing the people to vote on the liquor question. (Page 582, House Journal, 1934.)

Fielding Wright voted for the May-Roberts liquor bill. (Page 806, House Journal, 1934.)

John Lumpkin, a member of the Senate, fought the Roberts liquor bill. He will fight any liquor bill again.

2. Wright Voted for Six Week Residence Divorce Bill

Senate Bill No. 396, introduced in the 1930 session of the legislature, provided that a divorce might be granted on six weeks residence which would have made any county in Mississippi the same as Reno, Nevada.

Fielding Wright, a member of the House, voted for this six weeks residence divorce bill. (Page 654, House Journal, 1930.)

John Lumpkin was not a member of the legislature in 1930, but had he been he would not have voted for the six weeks residence divorce bill.

3. $6,000 A DAY Lost in Oil Taxes

In 1942, the Senate passed a bill placing a reasonable tax on oil produced in Mississippi. The bill went to the House and was placed at the bottom of the calendar. Vigorous efforts were made to get this bill out of the committee of the House and allow the House to vote on the bill, but a powerful lobby prevented a vote and the bill died.

Fielding Wright was attorney for one of the big oil producers and handled their legislative matters. It has been charged that he was largely responsible for preventing the vote in the House on the oil tax bill which has cost the tax payers approximately $6,000.00 a day since April, 1942.

John Lumpkin believes that oil produced in Mississippi should pay a reasonable tax, and that our oil should be refined in Mississippi if possible. If Mississippi oil is shipped out of the state it should not be shipped by pipe line but by railroad so as to give employment to our people.

The Lieutenant-Governor is President of the Senate and appoints all the committees.

Do you want a man who favors liquor to appoint the Temperance Committee? Or a man who favors easy divorce and who will fight any attempt to reasonably tax oil produced in Mississippi? IF NOT . . .

Vote For John Lumpkin For Lieutenant Governor

Where The Money Comes From

"Big Money vs The People", screams Tom Bailey, saying that he represents the people, while Conner represents the big money. Mr. Bailey wants to know where the "big money" comes from, yet does not seek to explain where HE gets the "big money" to finance HIS campaign and put his picture on nearly every pine tree and every telephone, telegraph and power line pole in Mississippi. One man stated to me that these pictures alone had cost more than the salary of the Governor for FOUR years.

Mr. Bailey inferentially inquires through the press in a paid advertisement where Mike gets that ' 'big money". In the first place I do not believe that Mike has any more money in his campaign fund than Tom has.

I do not know where Mike gets the money but I have an idea that it comes in dimes, quarters, halves and dollars from the following sources:

1. Some from the people, owning homes, who know that the Conner administration gave limited homestead exemption, and paved the way for the greater exemption now enjoyed by home owners. Look at homeowners in parts of Beat Two where taxes are no higher than they were 40 years ago.

2. From owners of a few bonds of the State of Mississippi who saw their bonds rise in value from 'way below par to 'way above par because of the BUSINESS administration of Conner.

3. Perhaps small sums were received from the "forgotten men" whom Conner, after exhaustive and exhausting investigation, liberated from Parchman and who now, as free men, appreciate what Conner did.

4. I would not be surprised if a good many small sums came from widows of old Confederates who had not been paid ANYTHING for 18 months before Conner went into office, and who have been paid their pittance EVER since, and regularly, just because the Conner administration was a BUSINESS administration.

5. Folks who had been forced to pawn state warrants probably pitched in some money because they remembered that it was the Conner administration which made the state warrants as good as gold.

6. Friends and relatives of patients in the institutions, as well as the patients themselves, no doubt kicked in some of the money, remembering that Conner reopened these faltering institutions.

7. Students (or, at the present time, alumni) of State-owned colleges, are grateful to the Conner administration because he put these colleges back on the accredited list, and these folks very likely pitched in considerable amounts.

8. The teachers who were unpaid when Conner went into office, and the students in the closed and closing schools are grateful for what that administration did by paying them and reopening their schools respectively are grateful and, likely, have contributed their bits.

9. From the admittedly low amounts received from the State as old age assistance, there may come contributions from the old people who are grateful to the administration that FIRST recognized their needs and did something, if not enough, for them.

10. Small contributions have likely come from the men and women who, in 1932, were down and out, are grateful to Mike who went to Washington and procured several million dollars for the old RFC and FERA.

No, no, my friends, there is nothing sinister about the source of financial backing that Mike gets. He has helped TOO MANY people in the State of Mississippi for them to turn him down when he needs help.

Then, too, Mike Conner has had sense enough and business and legal ability enough to earn a bunch of money. For his well-known fairness, integrity and ability, he was chosen from ALL available men in the 9 Southeastern States to be the Athletic Director, at a handsome salary. He is such a good lawyer that he has had to turn away cases because he did not have time to fill all calls. He and his associates have made a success of a bank they launched in the tight little city of Jackson. He had acumen enough to help start a bottling works. Seeing huge amounts of garbage going to waste at Camp Shelby, he and his partner had sense enough to convert waste products into pork at their hog farm. He and his family live simply and, therefore, he has been able to accumulate some money of his own.

Mike did not have enough money to advertise in the Mobile newspaper to the effect that if a Mississippi voter would go back to Mississippi and vote for Mike Conner, the voter would receive transportation.

Bond Sales In Conner Administration

Mr. Bailey in his speech here Friday spoke very sneeringly of Mr. Conner's ability as a "big business Governor" because of the sale of uncallable bonds during the Conner administration.

BUT Mr. Bailey did not explain that ALL sales of bonds must be approved by the State Bond Commission.

NOR did Mr. Bailey explain that the Bond Commission is composed of the Governor and two business men appointed by the Governor, the Speaker of the House and one man appointed by the Speaker, and the Lieutenant Governor and one man appointed by him—a seven-men body.

Both Mr. Bailey and Mr. Murphree criticized a certain bond sale. If Mr. Bailey and HIS appointee, and Mr. Murphree and HIS appointee thought so badly of that bond sale, whythehell didn't they use their 4 to 3 majority on the Bond Commission to stop the sale of these bonds. Why did not Mr. Bailey raise his voice in holy protest ten years ago, instead of today when it is too late?

Mr. Bailey criticizes his own action when he criticizes Mr. Conner's action in that bond business, for both of them were on the commission that approved the sale. BOTH were tarred with the SAME brush.

There is a lot of hooey in this campaign, although all of it does not come from one side; but there is more hooey in this bond business than anything brought up yet.

I Thought It Was The Heat

I thought that it was the heat which had been preventing me from sleeping well at night.

It was more than the heat. It was finding that Fred Sullens, Mr. Tom Hederman and I were trying to stay in the same political bed.

Anyway, it is refreshing to find that Fred Sullens and Mr. Tom have "come to their senses." Mr. Tom announced in the Sunday edition of his Clarion-Ledger that he was for Mike Conner in the run-off and it is well to remind the reader that Mr. Tom was Murphree's most ardent supported before the primary.

G. E. Denley, A Splendid Character

Mr. G. E. "Ellie" Denley, owner and editor of The Coffeeville Courier, friend and adviser of the people of that community for half a century or more, a faithful follower of the lowly Nazarene, died in Grenada Hospital Saturday night after a long illness.

I shall always appreciate the sound advice that Mr. Denley gave me before I launched the GCW. His advice, like that given many people, was sound and helpful.

His influence for good was not confined to Coffeeville, for his weekly paper was sent to hundreds of former citizens. Hundreds of people in Grenada county, especially those living close to the line, loved and respected him.

Ike Stone and I were talking several months ago and he reminded me that Mr. Denley had struggled on and had educated through college each member of his large family. He was not rich, he made little money, but he, through honest dealing and economy, played well his part on life's shifting scene, and, like the plant, produced good seed and, having nurtured them to maturity, died, his function on earth having been finished.

Pre-Pearl Harbor Fathers

The question of drafting pre-Pearl Harbor fathers has become the largest football in American politics today. The latest tentative beginning date I have read is October first. God knows what it will be before this appears in print. This class of men who have family responsibilities should KNOW where they stand and not be kept in constant confusion all of the time. If the army needs them, I say take them; but I think they should know something definite.

In line with this I have a letter from the County Agent to Farmer Mabel Whitaker, my wife, notifying her that one of her tenants, Jesse Kincaid by name, has been deferred until September first. I have not counted his pre-Pearl Harbor progeny lately, but the last count he had about seven kids. His folks would be infinitely better off financially with Jessie in the army, for they would draw $50.00 plus 7 times $12.00 or a total of $134.00 a month, while Jessie himself would draw $28.00, or a grand total cost, in money, of $163.00. The point that I make about Jessie, however, is that he has been deferred until SEPTEMBER first, while the newspapers have it that pre-Pearl Harbor fathers are deferred until OCTOBER first. Jessie is a pre-Pearl Harbor father from who laid the rail. He is also a post-Pearl Harbor father and will probably qualify as a post-Armistice father, no matter if the war lasts for the duration.

Fielding Wright

Fielding Wright and John Lumpkin (not Sam Lumpkin, who is recuperating from injuries sustained in the South Seas) are to run off the lieutenant governor's race.

Few people know anything about the relative merits of candidates for this office, and fewer than the few give a damn one way or another and it is for this reason that I am bold enough to say to my readers that Fielding Wright—an outstanding man in the state legislature for many years, as well as a man from OUR section of the state—is THE man. For purely selfish reasons, if for no other, Grenada county people should vote for their neighbor.

Mr. Wright's opponent is Mr. John Lumpkin whose chief assets are the blessings of Bilbo and his experience as caretaker of the famous Dream House. Being a disciple of Bilbo, Lumpkin would most likely be a "sinker" whether Bailey or Conner was elected, for it is well known that Bilbo likes neither one of the gubernatorial candidates. On the other hand, Mr. Wright is a friend of both Conner and Bailey and would work with EITHER of them.

Doing Our Bit

We have a letter from the Chief of the Special Service Branch of Camp McCain, asking us to publish a want ad for him, and inviting us to submit a bill for same. Like the prospective female beauty parlor lady sought by the ad who is enjoined, "Here is your chance to do your bit toward the war effort," we are going to "do our bit" by publishing the ad free of charge. Here is the ad:

> WANTED: Female beauty parlor manager. Hours from 12 noon to 9 p. m. All new equipment in shop. Pleasant surroundings. Work on the post. Pay on all commission basis. Here is your chance to do your bit toward the war effort. If interested, contact Captain McWayne, Camp McCain, Mississippi. Phone 600, Extenson 7259.

This is indeed a grand war when the war effort can be helped by a beauty parlor manager. Why, in the last war, we never heard of a woman working on the post, and our nearest approach to a beauty parlor was a G. I. can which the musician, pinch-hitting as barber, used as a chair in chopping off our surplus hair with a pair of dull clippers.

The boys will be having Turkish baths, eighteen-hole golf courses and, and, and (hell, that's all I know they do not already have) next.

Follow Rules to Make Canning Easy
(See Directions Below)

Fruit Canning

It's time now to begin putting up fruits for next winter and fall to help stretch those ration points and to make sure your family is going to get the two fruits a day required by the nutritional yardstick.

Be wise and watch the fruit trees or berry vines or markets—wherever you get your fruit—to see that you get it for your canning at just the ripe stage. Fruits should be firm-fleshed, ripe but not over-ripe and in prime condition. Remember canning does not improve any product; it merely preserves it for later use, so it follows that you get out of the can only what you put into it.

Methods for processing fruit for canning in order of their desirability are hot-water bath, pressure cooker, steam cooker, open-kettle. Although many homemakers prefer the open kettle for the fruits, the degree of spoilage is so high and the vitamin loss so great that it is less desired than processing in the jars.

Hot Water Bath.

For a hot water or boiling water bath as it is sometimes called, utilize a large deep vessel. Fit it with a rack of some kind that will hold the jars ½ inch from the bottom of the canner. Be sure the vessel is deep enough so that when the jar is immersed in the boiling water, the water comes to within 1 to 2 inches over the top of the jar.

Place jars on the rack, allowing free circulation of air between the jars. The water should be kept boiling during the entire processing period. If it boils down, particularly during some of the lengthy processing times, add sufficient boiling water to keep it at the proper height.

Oven Canning.

Many homemakers like to use the oven for canning fruits and tomatoes. This can be successful if the oven you are using is thermostatically controlled and will keep the required temperature of 250 degrees.

The jars should be set on a rack, at least 2 inches apart—starting with a cold oven. The jars should not be allowed to touch the sides of the oven. If a second batch of jars is going in after the first batch, the oven does not have to be cooled.

After the jars are placed on the rack, turn on the switch or light the oven. Start counting processing time as soon as the oven is turned on. Temperature should never exceed 250 degrees. Higher temperatures cause liquid to boil out of jars and evaporate.

Cooling and Testing Jars.

If you have used a self-sealing lid on the jars canned, do not invert them after taking from the canner. Instead, set them upright on several thicknesses of newspaper or clean towels, away from drafts and let them cool. After the jar has thoroughly cooled, remove the screw band and re-use it again and again. To test for seal, tap the lid of the jar with a spoon, and if you get a clear, high ringing note you can be certain that the jar is well sealed.

Fruits for canning are most often cold-packed, rather than hot-packed as are non-acid vegetables. Select fruit only in prime condition, ripe rather than over-ripe. Wash it thoroughly, then prepare as for table and pack in jars. Fill with hot syrup to within ½ inch of the top. Process according to the time table:

*Pre-cook fruit in light syrup (3 cups water and 1 cup sugar boiled together 5 minutes), for 3 to 5 minutes before packing in jar.

Precook fruit 5 to 10 minutes in syrup before packing in jar.

Fruit Juices.

Many homemakers who will be unable to put up all the jellies they would like this summer may put up fruit juices and make them into jelly later. Canning fruit juices either for jelly or other uses is a fairly simple matter, and processing is usually done in a hot water bath, at a simmering temperature, 180 degrees F.

Flavor of the fruit juices depends upon the fruit selected. The juice of fully ripened fruit should be used. Partially ripened fruit lacks flavor whereas over-ripe or bruised or decayed fruit will make sterilization more difficult.

Extracting Juice.

The cold process method must not be used if the fruit is extracted for jelly making. It is far better to heat the fruit or berries. Do not add much water, particularly for soft fruits and berries. Simmer at very low heat—do not boil—until the juices start running.

Strain the fruit juices through a cotton flannel bag, and fill sterile jars to within ½ inch of the top. Adjust cap, and process in hot water bath for 30 minutes.

Working as quickly as possible will save the flavor of the juices and make it more desirable for jelly-making.

Lynn Says:

Canning Pointers: Most fruits are canned by the cold pack method, but apples, pears, pineapple and quinces are pre-cooked in their syrups to give them that lovely, transparent look. Most homemakers are using the light syrup—three cups water to one cup sugar—for canning.

If you can't afford any sugar, use fruit juices in place of the sugar, and then sweeten the fruit when ready to use. Or, if you can't make up all the jellies and jams because of lack of sugar, put up the juice and make it into jelly during the winter when you do have sugar.

Honey syrup may be used in canning fruits, but expect to have a slightly different flavor to the fruit and somewhat darker appearance.

Use a large kettle in cooking honey syrups because they have a tendency to boil over and foam while being cooked.

If you have a canning problem, write to Miss Lynn Chambers, Western Newspaper Union, 210 South Desplaines Street, Chicago, Ill. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply.

GOD SHOWS HIS PEOPLE THE WAY

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 13:17-22; 15:17-22a.

GOLDEN TEXT—The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation.—Exodus 15:2.

The destinies of the nations are in the hands of God. Warriors are mighty in battle, counselors are quick to declare their wisdom, and diplomats are clever in the manipulation of wealth and people. But when they have all exercised to the limit their ingenuity and power they have only succeeded in bringing us "blood, sweat and tears" as the portion of all mankind.

Israel was about to be delivered from the bondage of Egypt, and God through His leader Moses was ready to be their guide. Even so He guides every believer in Christ. We may learn three things from this lesson.

I. God Has a Plan (Exod. 13: 17-19).

There was a direct, easy road along the coast of the Mediterranean up to Canaan, but God with His pillar of cloud and fire did not lead out in that way.

How strange that He should take them by a longer, more difficult way! Not at all. He knew the danger of the easy way. It was there that the warlike Philistines would be lying in ambush. Such immediate conflict would discourage Israel and tempt them to return to the fleshpots of Egypt. So He took them the other way.

Note that God's guidance for them was one of intelligent planning, not just impulse or chance. He knew what to do, and He did it, for their good.

God has a plan, not only for the nations, but also for individuals, for your life and mine. Let us find His will for us, for it is good, acceptable and perfect (Rom. 12:1, 2).

Note the honoring of the faith of Joseph in God's promise (v. 19). The memory of his assurance was a blessing to his descendants, and they honored it and him. What will our descendants have to say about our faith in God?

II. God Provides Guidance (Exod. 13:20-22).

God's plan is made known to His people as they follow Him step by step. This means that there must be guidance, moment by moment, if His plan is to be worked out. He gives such guidance and it is only when His children fail to follow it that the pattern of life becomes confused.

The field of divine guidance is one in which Christians have widely divergent experiences. Some know the sweet, unconfused daily experience of God's hand upon them, caring for even the minor details (or are they minor?) of life. Others have known the directive power of God in some life crisis, but not in the ordinary affairs of life. Many, and perhaps most, think of divine guidance as a spiritual theory of which the preacher talks, but know nothing of it in their own lives.

What makes this great difference? Faith—or the lack of it. Those who trust God accept and receive His blessed leadership moment by moment. It is as simple as that. Others reach out and take it when the pressure of life makes them cast themselves on God. Others simply muddle along "doing their best," which is not their best, for God is not in it.

The pillar of cloud, which became luminous at night, was ideal for the guidance of Israel. It provided shade by day from the hot sun, and a sure guide in the darkness of the night.

III. God Gives Joyous Victory (Exod. 15:17-22a).

Israel soon came against the insurmountable barrier (humanly speaking) of the Red sea. Then Pharaoh, regretting that he had released them, came up after them—an impossible situation, and the people began to berate Moses. This time he stood fast in his faith and said: "Stand still and see the salvation of Jehovah"—and it came!

Then followed the song of victorious joy, which Moses wrote and the people sang. Deliverance brings joy, and forget it not, God is able to deliver those who put their trust in Him.

The application to our spiritual lives is a blessed one. Setting out on God's way does not mean that one will not have trials. They come, and quickly. We do not get farther than our Red sea when the world sees an opportunity to draw us back and comes charging at us from the rear, like Pharaoh. What to do? Trust God, and He will drown the Pharaoh who pursues you in the very Red sea which is now your difficulty. He will bring you through dryshod if you count on Him.

Fearful, fretting, fussing Christian, why not "stand still" and let God work out your salvation. You cannot bear the burdens of all the world. He can, and will set you free so that you too may go forward for Him.

OLD WASHSTAND WITH SIDE SHELVES, NEW TOP AND 4" BASE BOARD MAY BE USED IN LIVING ROOM DINING ROOM OR ENTRANCE HALL

TODAY'S living room is often furnished with streamlined pieces that have served a more humble purpose. Almost any plain washstand or dresser may be given long smart lines by adding open shelves at the ends. Here a top of plywood with a plain moulding around the edges extends across the stand and shelves. By adding a plain baseboard and a coat of paint the piece is finished with a modern air. The paint should match the woodwork and if old hardware is removed to make way for simple new drawer pulls the screw holes should be filled with plastic wood and sandpapered before painting.

The diagram at the upper right shows how to make the wall decoration from a remnant of flowered chintz. If you use an old frame, the chintz picture may be given the appearance of an oil painting by applying several coats of varnish, allowing plenty of time for each coat to dry thoroughly.

Housewives Are Urged To Turn in Waste Fats

That there is an acute need for more fats and greases is emphasized in a recent statement by Donald M. Nelson, chairman of WPB.

Over 85 per cent of all glycerine produced is now used for military purposes and the need is increasing. Housewives have been most co-operative in response to appeals to save waste fats; but government surveys reveal that while six out of ten women are saving fats, only three out of ten have thus far been delivering their waste fat to meat dealer collectors.

Directions are very simple. Housewives simply strain waste fats of every kind into a clean can and, as soon as the can is full, take it without delay to a meat dealer or frozen food locker operator. Any clean can will do.

When the soldier talks about "the skipper" he means his captain, the head of his company. And that's just what the title "captain" means. It comes from the Latin word "caput" meaning "head." Another leader high in the Army man's favor is Camel cigarettes—they're first choice with men in the Army. (Based on actual sales records from service men's own stores.) When you're sending gifts from home, keep in mind that a carton of cigarettes is always most welcome. And though there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men, you can still send Camels to soldiers in the U. S., and to men in the Navy, Marines, and Coast Guard wherever they are.—Adv.

In general, guayule rubber has the same qualities and characteristics as plantation tree rubber, except that it has a high resin content, about 20 per cent, compared with 4 per cent in tree rubber.

L. P. "PRITCH" HORTON THANKS VOTERS

Grenada, Miss., Aug. 7, 1943

To My Good Friends, the Voters of District One, Both Those Here and Those Who are in the Service of Our Country:

I can't begin to tell you how very happy you made me when you expressed yourselves in last Tuesday's Primary. I simply have not the words to express my gratitude. Now, it is all over and I beg of each and every person, regardless of his or her politics, let us all get together, shoulder to shoulder and do the things that will tend to promote the best interests of Grenada County. Every person is directly or indirectly interested in the financial condition of the entire county. Any cooperation I can possibly render the City of Grenada that tends to save expenses, aids in keeping down taxes. My intention is to continue that cooperation to the very best of my ability with such machiery as I have as long as I can do so without neglecting the roads.

Owing to the very uncertain future, I am unable to make any promises but will continue to do my dead level best. My intention is to refuse to accept any other job but will continue to devote my entire time to the duties of the office My intention is to continue to work in harmony with the Illinois Central Railroad, Ayer and Lord Tie Co. BelgradJe Lumber Company, Mississippi Power and Light Company, Grenada Industries and all enterprises that are, or may in the future, be located in Grenada County because they help bear the burden of our taxes and they are justly entitled to sympathetic cooperation. When the timber will have been cut and the mill have to convert their machinery to the manufacture of something else, or move, then I want the Officials of Grenada County to be so sympathetic that they will remain here. Let us all do the things that will elevate rather than lower the moral as well as financial standard of Grenada County. Our Grenada County Library must be supported to the limit. That Library is paying big dividends in training the young minds of this county. It is pitiful to see a young boy in court, prosecuted for some crime he never would have committed had he had the right training. Then again, let us prepare to care for some of these fine boys that may come back from the batte field of Europe, Asia, Africa, maimed by the grinding hardships they are enduring now, and will continue to endure as long as this war goes on. This Library will contribute to their comfort until they will have secured jobs. Again I want to sincerely thank you for the confidence you reposed in me last Tuesday.

Your friend,
L. P. "Pritch" Horton.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

We have had so many new subscribers and renewers that we will never be able to catch up with them, what with so many political ads and so many cards of thanks from the politicians.

Our old Oxberry friend, Elizey Huffman, who has been sorely afflicted and unable to work for some time, was in Grenada with his wife Saturday.

Thanks to Mrs. Bob Clanton for a mess of Corley apples from the James old place.

His many friends in Grenada will be delighted to hear that "son" Thompson has been promoted to Yeoman 3rd Cass.

Sisters Francis and Taylor, of Holcomb, visited Grenada Monday.

Dear Mary: your husband is living a good life while you are away.

Well, well, here is Corporal James B. Burleyson of the Air Corps at San Angelo, Texas, knocking for admission. Let him on the mailing list, Horn. Hope you will get another stripe soon, Cpl.

Col. Kahn graciously offered to pay all my expenses to go with him to Jackson next Tuesday. I would not go to Jackson on that day with all expenses paid and a cash bonus of $50.00, poor as I am. I am not going to celebrate much when the eggs are hatched, certainly not before they are hatched.

Neither we Conner men nor you Bailey men can afford to support John Lumpkin for Lieutenant Governor. He bears the triple-1B brand of Bilbo (Bull, Baloney and Cuncombe). If elected he would naturally follow His Master's Voice and mess up either Bailey or Conner.

Mrs. E. T. Sweeny, of this city has decided to cast her lot with us and, by paying in advance, must believe that the CCW will last at least a year more.

We have been so busy for the last three weeks to mention that, by the forebearance of our creditors, we managed to get by another first of the month.

The voters have the shortest ticket ever known in Grenada county; three state offices, the sheriff's office, and supervisors in three beats. Down in one S. E. Mississippi county, the voters have three state officers and two JP's only.

Mr. Greenfield has been pursuaded to erect the bulletin board in the square next Tuesday night and show the box score in the precincts in this county, as well as state returns as an overburdened telephone system can carry. Be there and hear the good, or bad news.

I want to say to Homer Williams and Hurd Horton and the few other Bailey men of this county: take IT gracefully and graciously. The world will move on and the sun will rise and the birds will sing and the fish swim notwithstanding the return to oblivion of your idol. If a miracle should happen, you will find me at the same old stand for, if He and Mike are not used to being beaten, whethehell are?

AMERICAN RAILROADS FACE THEIR BIGGEST JOB

COMING weeks will see America's railroads shouldering the peak load of 1943. Crops must be carried to market or storage—military freight must be moved to embarkation points—troops must be transported.

Coal and oil must be delivered in ever-mounting quantities to meet domestic and industrial needs. Railroads must pinch-hit for the oil tankers that used to skirt the east coast—for the freighters that formerly plied through the Panama Canal, and for the millions of private cars and transport trucks now out of service.

During the first half of 1943 the Illinois Central System carried more freight and more passengers more miles than ever before in its history. What the demands of the coming weeks will do to records for the last six months remains to be seen.

What America's railroads have done—and what they are about to do—is possible only because of closest cooperation on the part of civilian shippers and federal agencies. All America seems to realize that this is everybody's war. People appreciate that the railroads must place war business first. Public attitude toward the whole situation is a compliment to American enterprise and teamwork.

TOM BAILEY

COURTEOUS

BIG MONEY Vs. THE PEOPLE

Is the Issue in the Second Primary

Early in November, 1942, a letter signed by the "Voluntary Citizens Committee" was mailed out over the state asking the people to write Tom Bailey's present opponent and request him to run for Governor. This self-appointed SECRET committee here in Democratic America was trying to name the next Governor.

Who were the members of this committee?

Diligient efforts have failed to reveal the names of this secret group.

Whom does this secret group represent?

Does it represent government behind closed doors, instead of government of the People, by the People, and for the People?

Does it represent the great oil interests that have blocked efforts to make them pay a fair tax onthe oil they are now taking from under our soil at a tax rate much lower than is paid in our neighboring oil producing states?

Does it represent great corporate interests with head offices outside the state, but doing business within the state and wanting special privileges?

Does it represent those interests that want to keep old age pensions at their present low levels and teachers' salaries at low figures?

Does it represent those interests that want to keep from the common people decent medical and hospital facilities?

This SECRET Committee Certainly touched off BIG MONEY, For Someone has spent many thousands of dollars for numerous statewide radio hookups. Someone has spent many more thousands of dollars for extensive and expensive advertising in county and daily newspapers.

Someone has paid the organizers and propgandists that have been riding the state for months denouncing Franklin and Merphree and saying but he can't get into the second primary because big money is not with him.

MISSISSIPPIANS, YOU HAVE EVERY ONE HEARD THIS!!

Tom Bailey doesn't have the support of the big money crowd. He has the support of only loyal, average Mississippians. But they have put him in the second primary and

Tom Bailey Will Win

He will keep the Governor's office open to every citizen for four years. He will give us a fair, honest and capable administration.

TO MY BEAT FIVE FRIENDS

On account of the illness of my father, who is in Grenada Hospital I will not be able to see each of you. But please consider this as sickness comes before business. Hoping each and everyone will give me consideration on August 24th.

Your friend,
Clifton Martin.

At the recent term of court a negro woman, accused of shooting three other negroes, elected to defend herself, and was found guilty and sentenced by Judge Allen to ONE year in prison. She asked for a new trial, which was granted her by the Judge, and employed Hon. Sam Mims to defend her. She was tried again, found uilty and sentenced to THREE years. Hurd Horton said that, if Sam had secured Cowles to help him, the woman would have been hanged.

I very deeply resent the tale they tell on Senator-designate Jim Blount of the free state. Up until the executive committee was about to meet and name Jim Blount the nominee, he had no opposition, but suddenly a barber in Tutwiler poped up with this scandalous platform: "You KNOW Jim Blount; you do NOT know me." Faced with a platform that would bring him certain defeat, Jim, it is said got Harry Dogan and some of the other big shots to go to Tutweiler where they finally pursuaded the barber to withdraw, much to the delight of Jim. Only old Michalvaipl, or whatever that shewd French politician was named, could have devised such a sly, cunning plaform as the barber devised.

Candidate For

SHERIFF

GRENADA COUNTY

Thanks you for your Birthday Vote on August 3rd, and ask that you again vote for him on August 24th.

Rogers Parker's home box (Graysport) gave him 52 out of 57 votes in the first primary.

Rogers Parker, a veteran of World War No. 1, pledges a careful and efficient term of office.

Your Vote Will Always Be Appreciated

RE-ELECT

J. S. VANDIVER

State Superintendent of Public Education

Confidence in J. S. Vandiver's administration was overwhelmingly expressed on August 3, by the people of Mississippi. Vandiver leads his second primary opponent by a total of 47,806 votes. He led the ticket in 69 counties and received a majority in 40 of these counties.

Why Did The People of Mississippi Endorse Vandiver's Administration

VANDIVER IS A SOUND BUSINESS ADMINISTRATOR

The principles of school finance advocated throughout the state by J. S. Vandiver were incorporated in the Kyle-Cook Budget Law. The application of sound business principles has abolished deficits and enabled teachers and bus drivers to be paid in full and on time.

J. S. Vandiver has administered the Kyle-Cook Budget Law without favoritism. Not one appeal was made from the disbursement of $8,787,000 for the 1943-44 school term. Dates for disbursement and approximate amounts are determined by law. Criticism by our opponent of the disbursement of school funds shows ignorance on his part of the budget laws under which Mississippi schools operate.

VANDIVER HAS LED THE SCHOOL WARTIME PROGRAM

Vandiver has directed the state-wide school participation in the war time. This has involved active cooperation with 23 wartime agencies.

The War Production Training Program has trained and placed in jobs over 48,000 persons and given training in farm machinery repair and food for victory programs to over 123,000. Mississippi leads the nation in the number of trainees enrolled with ten percent of the nation's total.

These programs are financed entirely by Federal funds under Federal regulations and administered under the direction of the State Board for Vocational Education. All wages are set by local advisory committees and approved under policies of the United States Office of Education. Every account that my opponent questions has been audited, approved, and paid in full by the Federal Government.

The State Department of Education under VANDIVER'S leadership will do everything possible to help win this war. Vandiver's opponent belittles and criticizes the Mississippi War Program. Is it possible that our opponent is unsympathetic with this great program which the President of the United States and high army and navy officials have said is absolutely essential to successful prosecution of the war?

VANDIVER'S OPPONENT HAS NEVER BEEN THE SUPERINTENDENT OF A FOUR-YEAR AFFILIATED HIGH SCHOOL IN THIS OR ANY OTHER STATE. HE HAS NOT BEEN CONNECTED WITH ANY MISSISSIPPI SCHOOL FOR TWELVE YEARS. VANDIVER IS A SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL ADMINISTRATOR. THE OFFICE OF STATE SUPERINTENDENT OF EDUCATION IS PRIMARILY AN ADMINISTRATIVE AND EXECUTIVE OFFICE. EXPERIENCE HAS NEVER COUNTED SO MUCH AS NOW.

This Is No Time To Experiment
